

Intelligence Oversight

NAVINGEN's Intelligence Oversight Division is responsible for administering the Navy's Intelligence Oversight program. We are the primary point of contact for all Intelligence Oversight matters.

Our mission is broader than just the protection of U.S. citizen's rights and privacy. Intelligence Oversight ensures that all Navy and Marine Corps intelligence activities, operations, and programs function in compliance with all applicable laws, statutes, directives and policies.

+ History of Intelligence Oversight

+ Frequently Asked Questions

RDT&E Technology Protection

We inspect security, technology protection, and counterintelligence activities at navy and Marine Corps Research, Development, Test and Evaluation (RDT&E) facilities. An RDT&E facility is considered as any entity that is owned and operated by the Government and conducts activities devoted to research, advanced technology development, demonstration/validation, engineering and manufacturing development, systems or operations support, testing and evaluation, or some combination of these.

Instructions

List of documents arranged here	Title of each document
---------------------------------	------------------------

Training

List of Links and Resources	Title of each Link or Resource
-----------------------------	--------------------------------

Resources and Links

List of Links and Resources	Title of each Link or Resource
-----------------------------	--------------------------------

Feedback

Name Email

Message

